

NOV Provides Operational Update for First Quarter 2026

April 15, 2026 at 8:00 AM EDT

HOUSTON, April 15, 2026 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- NOV Inc. (NYSE: NOV) announced today that operational disruptions resulting from the war in the Middle East will cause first quarter 2026 revenue and earnings to be below prior guidance. On a consolidated basis, the Company currently expects to report revenues of $2.05 billion, operating profit of $47 million, and Adjusted EBITDA* of $177 million.

"The conflict in the Middle East created significant safety and logistical challenges during the first quarter, which adversely impacted revenue by an estimated $54 million and Adjusted EBITDA by approximately $32 million," stated Jose Bayardo, Chairman, President, and CEO. "These challenges disproportionately affected quarter-end deliveries of capital equipment and products, including spare parts, in the region, while our more service-oriented offerings were less affected. Higher shipping and freight costs and reduced absorption in our manufacturing facilities further amplified decremental margins.

"We are actively managing the impact of the ongoing conflict in the Middle East, with the safety of our team as our top priority. While conditions in the region remain volatile, our facilities have not been damaged, and we are confident in our ability to navigate through near-term disruptions. Our team is responding quickly to support customers, reduce the impact of delays, and mitigate escalating costs.

"Despite challenges in the Middle East, our business remains solid throughout the rest of the world, and we believe the conflict will increase the urgency to advance projects that promote energy security and diversification over the mid-to-longer-term."

The Company is finalizing its financial close process for the first quarter 2026 and will provide complete results in a press release issued after market close on Monday, April 27, 2026. As such, a reconciliation of estimated net income to estimated Adjusted EBITDA is not available without unreasonable effort. The actual amount of other income (expense), provision (benefit) for income taxes, equity income (loss) in unconsolidated affiliates, depreciation and amortization, and other amounts excluded from Adjusted EBITDA could have a significant impact on net income.
